A Matter of Disposition

The organizers of the American Cigar Company knew what good cigars ought to be-and how to produce them: That's one thing to consider. They invested millions of dollars to provide the equipment that was required to make cigar, manufacturing a modern industry. That's another, thing worth noting.

They were united in agreeing that the only way to succeed was to produce only the finest cigars of every blend-to maintain quality without the slightest variation and to keep prices down to the lowest notch that modern business system could make possible. That's disposition-the keynote of the whole business.

cigars that are sold under the claim them to be? "Triangle A". We could keep Not much! We know well right on publishing the longest enough that even if we were not and strongest list of claims ever disposed to do it we would have in every newspaper in the country-and we could, no doubt, work up a huge busiiness. But do you think for a minute that the sale of "A" cigars would show the healthy, steady and rapid increase it

Now we have been offering does show unless "Triangle A" some pretty strong claims for the cigars were pretty near what we applied to cigars; we could pub- to make our cigars back up our lish them every day in full pages claims or somebody else would get the business.

MARK

We can't make it any plainer than that. We have built up the biggest and most revolutionary cigar business in the world on the basis of honest value, and already it has proved that it pays.

The American Cigar Company manufactures a large number of brands of different blends to suit individual tastes. Among them you are sure to find a blend to suit you now and another to suit you when your taste changes.
